

Food & Beverage Magazine
August 16, 2016

Where to Drink for National Lemonade Day on August 20

August 20th marks National Lemonade Day, and the perfect excuse to quench on America's favorite summer drink. To celebrate the holiday, we've rounded up five restaurants for New Yorkers looking for a new boozy way to drink lemonade to break the heat and savor summer's end:

For Lemonade Martinis

- Haven Rooftop (132 W 47th St.): Guests will find the best views of the Manhattan Skyline at this sunny rooftop restaurant in the heart of the Theater District. Its Eclipse lemon martini will be the perfect refreshment while soaking up the views, as it is made with fresh lemon juice, pineapple juice, New Amsterdam gin and Triple Sec.

For a Boozy, Berry-Filled Lemonade

- Tender Steak & Sushi (132 W 47th St.): Located inside the beautiful Sanctuary Hotel, this Asian-fusion steakhouse offers a fresh twist to the boozy lemonade with The Blues. The drink is made with fresh lemon juice mixed with lime, muddled blueberries, agave, and New Amsterdam gin.

